Last Call to Apply for a Pathway 2 Project
Help Shape the Future of Education in Wales

Time is running out to be part of Pathway 2 (Partnership and Strategic Collaboration); a funding opportunity designed for Welsh organisations to lead innovative education projects in collaboration with international partners. These projects tackle key educational priorities in Wales while drawing on global insights to enrich learning and practice at both local and national levels.

We've already supported some inspirational projects such as Plan International and their visit to explore ways to address gender-based violence, and Ysgol Gyfun Gymraeg Glantaf's visit to New Zealand to learn about decolonising the curriculum.

With the Taith programme set to end in 2028, this is your final chance to apply for and deliver a Pathway 2 project. If you have a proposal and would like to discuss it, please fill out your details here and we'll arrange a meeting.

It is worth noting that Taith is looking to fund new projects and is unlikely to fund projects/outputs that are the same, or similar, to those already funded by Taith. Before applying you can check what projects we have previously funded for Pathway 2 on our planned projects page and our completed projects page.

Don't miss out – this is your last opportunity to be part of Pathway 2.

Applications close at 12pm on 6 November 2025.

Pathway 2 Case Study

Developing Community Focused Schools in Wales: Learning from and with our community partners in Florida

Lead School: Pencoed Primary School
Theme: Developments in Education

Pencoed Primary School partnered with two other schools; Ysgol Y Gogarth and Ysgol Pen Rhos, to apply for Taith Pathway 2 funding to support the development and sustainability of community focused schools in Wales. Their project supports the Welsh Government's ambition for all schools in Wales to become community focused schools. They went to Florida as much of the research on the impact of community schools comes from the United States and there is a well-established community school programme in Florida.
